WASHINGTONVILLE

Bright, Breezy Paragraphs Telling The Happenings in the Village on Mahoning's Southern Border.

By Peter M. Herold

Where's the crawling caterpillar? Sound asleep in his cocoon. Where's the bee, so bright and busy? Dreaming in the hive of June. Where's the snail and where's the turtle? Safely buried in the ground. Where's the woodchuck, where's the rabbit? In their burrows they are found. Where's the thrush and where's the night? Singing 'neath the Southern sky. Where's the bear and where's the squirrel? In their hollow tree they lie. Where's the ant, that careful worker? In their underground abode. Where's the eighty-eyed spinning spider? In a crevice snugly stowed. Where's the bat that rang at midnight? He is in his winter's sleep—In his cave he hangs head downward, and he never takes a peep. These and many other creatures Hide or drowse the winter through. But when spring has once awakened They are up and stirring too.

Magic and music in school hall tonight. George Watson and wife entertained Salem relatives on Friday. Another number of our lecture course, in school hall tonight. Elmer Bowman and wife are here from Akron visiting his parents. E. E. Warner and wife entertained the Euchre club Saturday night. We have had snow or a blizzard every Sunday since ground hog day. When you are down in the mouth, just think of Jonah—he came out all right.

R. B. Maxwell was at East Liverpool and Midland, Pa., on business Friday. Work was resumed at the Delmore mine on Saturday, after a two weeks' suspension. Wm. Washington has concluded to strike out for taller timber in search of more steady employment.

The Robert Yates property in Leetonia is being remodeled as a home for Frank Ballantine and wife. Miss Elsie Clark of Greenford spent the week end at the home of her grandparents, J. Longbottom and wife. Carl Weikart and Clair Waggle, with their wives, spent Sunday afternoon at the home of J. E. Gilbert and wife.

Eggs are becoming cheaper as we approach Easter, when the rabbits are said to lay colored eggs for good children. If persons residing in this community did not get all the sleigh riding they want this winter, it is no fault of the weather bureau. Some folks are never content.

Wm. Young has secured a second hand automobile, and is about to use it for experimental purposes, after working hours at the Crescent machine works. It is our town hall a paying proposition? Two dances a month at $6 equals $12. Janitor's fees for same $3.50; cleaning hall, $4; gas for hall, $4; coal for same $12. Total $24.50. Insurance, etc. Does it pay to dance? Francis Moon, brother of Mrs. Howard Russell of this place, and Miss Della Kepner of New Waterford were united in marriage Wednesday evening at the Methodist parsonage.

The young couple will make their home for the present upon the farm of the groom's parents, John Moon and wife, near New Waterford. The teachers of Columbiana, Trumbull, Portage and Mahoning counties, together with the city teachers of Youngstown, will hold the annual meeting of The Four-County Teachers' Association in South High School Auditorium, Youngstown, Friday evening and Saturday, March 20 and 21, 1914. Washingtonville teachers will be in attendance, especially at the Saturday sessions.

Now is the time for boys and girls to build big houses. They can be built in any style of architecture, from the plain shack to a finely painted bungalow. Have them erected before the martins and the bluebirds come; have them face the rising sun, and safe from the visits of cats. Then, after while, when the martins come north in search of summer residences, and the study of bird life is very interesting. When making a little house for wrens, the entrance must not be large enough to admit any other bird. Columbus county has erected a bird house in Lisbon near the court house and many other villages have prepared homes for these summer visitors.

A Roumanian young couple, late arrivals from the old country, came here on the Erie passenger train last week Thursday evening and on reaching the Washingtonville station it was learned that the lady had become the mother of a 12 pound daughter between here and Canfield. She was carried from the car into the waiting station, which had been transformed into a temporary maternity hospital; Dr. O. A. Rhodes was summoned and with the assistance of Mrs. Charles DeJano and other humane neighbor women, the infant was dressed and the mother made comfortable until she was conveyed to the home of Joseph Padera, a countryman of the couple, where they could speak and make themselves understood in their own language. As a temporary interpreter, Arnold Shope made the lady and her husband feel at home until better quarters were provided. Friday afternoon they were taken in Frank Stouffer's comfortably prepared sled to Salem, where the strangers aided relatives. Before leaving the station the husband paid the doctor's bill and other expenses, and showed evidence of being well to do and intelligent.

Sole voted 127 to 50 to issue school bonds.

The baseball season for 1914 is approaching. East Palestine is to have a Chautauque next summer, probably in August.

Thomas Heaton spent Sunday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Frank Hecht, in Salem.

The new school house of Ohio are a sort of Chinese puzzle, many of them seemingly conflicting.

Mrs. C. W. Bowman will enter the Youngstown hospital to undergo an operation for internal tumor on Monday.

Wm. J. Greenamyer died from the third stroke of paralysis at his home in Salem early Monday morning, aged 55 years.

Preparations are being made to take care of the maple groves during the next few weeks, as sugar making is near at hand.

There appears to be a slight lull in business here, owing to the uncertainty of the mining outlook in this immediate vicinity.

The Salem and Leetonia "movies" attract many of our people who want to see the latest pictures on Saturday nights.

It is much like wearing a straw hat for the stores to lay in a supply of flower and garden seeds when the ground is covered with snow.

Chickens are listed by assessors for taxation at 50 cents apiece, since patent medicine and salt pork and beef are hard on the kidneys.

The variability of the weather has made more business for the druggists than for the doctors. Blue noses and goose pimples require no surgery.

Mrs. Susan Gilbert has been ill the past week, but not so serious as to summon distant relatives. She is well preserved considering her advanced age.

Fred Williams of Struthers spent a few days last week at the home of his uncle, J. D. Williams, whose health is growing worse by reason of long confinement.

The Leetonia auto garage, conducted by Van Skiver and Harold, has been bought by Walter Berg, who will continue in the business of general repairing of automobiles.

Luther Dunbar resigned his place as mayor at New Waterford in order to become assessor of that precinct. R. E. Murray has been appointed mayor.

It is given out that the Peerless coal mine has been closed and abandoned, unless the No. 4 vein can be worked. Should it close, 66 men will be thrown out of employment.

James Chapel, ex-marshal of this village, after a few years' absence in various parts of the country, came in on the Erie Friday evening and called upon his sisters and other relatives here.

Aaron Calvin, a resident of Green township, died suddenly from seepage of the heart at 8 o'clock Saturday evening, aged about 66 years. He was a cousin of Mrs. Joseph Moore of this village.

Eph Michael was fined $500 for bootlegging in Lisbon since that town voted to saloon last November. Being unable to pay the fine Mayor Henry sentenced him to the Canton workhouse for two years and four months.

Persons who persist in dancing the turkey trot, the bunny hug, the tango and other modern innovations should not try to affiliate with the Christian churches which prohibit dancing. "You cannot serve both God and Mammon."

Alex. Schettline, son of Geo. Schettline of this village, who has been in the employ of the Buckeye foundry in Salem, and Miss Louise Knutti of Leetonia are reported to have eloped Wednesday night, Friday with matrimonial intentions.

Counties that have already secured the 50 per cent of good roads money from the state, and the townships which have sold their good roads bonds, have pooled their conditions and are letting out certain sections and have proposed route to bidders. "Good Roads" has come to be a National and popular fad.

If our postoffice was located a half mile nearer Leetonia we would stand chances of not getting any morning mail, for it is almost a physical impossibility to handle the mail off the Erie train before the Leetonia train reaches Washingtonville. It would give us better service did the Leetonia R. D. extend through this village.

Evangelistic meetings are still in progress at the Methodist church and will continue the remainder of this week. Saturday night the following were in attendance: Amos Frederick and daughter, two of the Courtneys, two of the Berrys, Mr. Lee, Mr. Applegate and others whose names we did not learn. Sunday night the following, among others, were here from Franklin Square: John Barnes, Elmer Goodballe, Paul Burbick, and Chas. R. Taylor of Youngstown. The pastor, Rev. Earl Lea, is an earnest worker and it is to be desired that he may yet see that there can "some good thing come out of" Washingtonville.

A recently enacted law requires all automobile licenses to be placed on the good roads fund. Naturally so, for the auto will be most benefited by the improved roads, yet any road good enough for automobiles is good enough for any other vehicle, or for foot-paths. After paying certain department expenses, the balance is to be used "for the repair, maintenance, policing, patrolling of the public roads and highways of the state, under the direction, supervision and control of the state highway department." If the roads are "policed and patrolled" there will be mighty little left for "repair and maintenance." An effort was made to have the fund used for the construction and upkeep of the roads, but it was futile. It appears that all really good laws are crippled by leaving loop holes for grafters and places where courts may set them aside. But under the state law giving 50 per cent out of the state treasury, 25 per cent out of the county treasury and 15 per cent out of the township, there is no room for either graft or fraud.

This is the sixth week of ground hog watching.

J. L. Fitzpatrick is building two closets for town hall. Uncle Wm. Boston is confined to the house with pleurisy.

Station agent C. S. Angley has the grip and borders on pleurisy. The infant son of Mayor Stouffer and wife was circumcised on Wednesday.

The Peerless miners held a meeting Tuesday night to discuss the condition of affairs at that mine.

The young ladies' basketball team of the Carrollton high school journeyed to Lisbon one day last week and scored 15 to Lisbon's 22.

Mrs. David Baird is handy about town as a trained nurse, and is frequently called to Youngstown and other neighboring towns in cases of serious illness.

The board of education met Tuesday night and went through routine business, but financially it was just like milking a dry cow. Our board has always been pinched for school funds.

Applications under the mothers' pension law must be made through the probate court and be paid by the county commissioners. Under the blind pension act, all claims must be filed with the county commissioners.

Fritz Barton is in the Salem hospital to undergo an operation. And Benny Boothe is growing weaker from tuberculosis. Both these young men are unable to work, and having small families to support, are in need of outside assistance.

A church quilting bee is soon to be inaugurated by the aid societies from quilts that were pieced and laid away in old trunks, chests and dough-trays by some of the grandmothers of the village. When quilted they will serve the double purpose of covers and relics.

Dr. S. B. Lechner of Delroy was 80 years of age last Friday, and the Old Fellows there celebrated the event by going in a body to his home and extending him their congratulations.

Among those who called upon the old doctor were the parents and grandparents whom he was the first to welcome to this world, and he remarked that he had attended all their "first birthday parties."

The Faulk family of six members, residing on the Gilbert farm east of town, are assisting in the revival services being held in the M. E. Church. They are members of the new sect called the Nazarenes; they profess entire sanctification, and is but a new name for old-fashioned Methodism. It may be said of this family, as was said by Isaiah the prophet: "They are all in faith." Rev. Lea used as his scripture lesson Tuesday night the 23d chapter of Matthew and selected the 37th verse as his text. At the close of preaching service an experience meeting was held, in which all were made free to testify.

The Lisbon Petrol says that when Wellsville was voted dry, the brewers came to the court house and collected the rebate of the saloon licenses. How about there being no brewery licensed saloons? This is a provision in the license law, under which saloons are now operated in Ohio, but there is no truth in the claim; and like all liquor laws, they are made to be evaded and loopholes left to crawl out of in case of arrests.

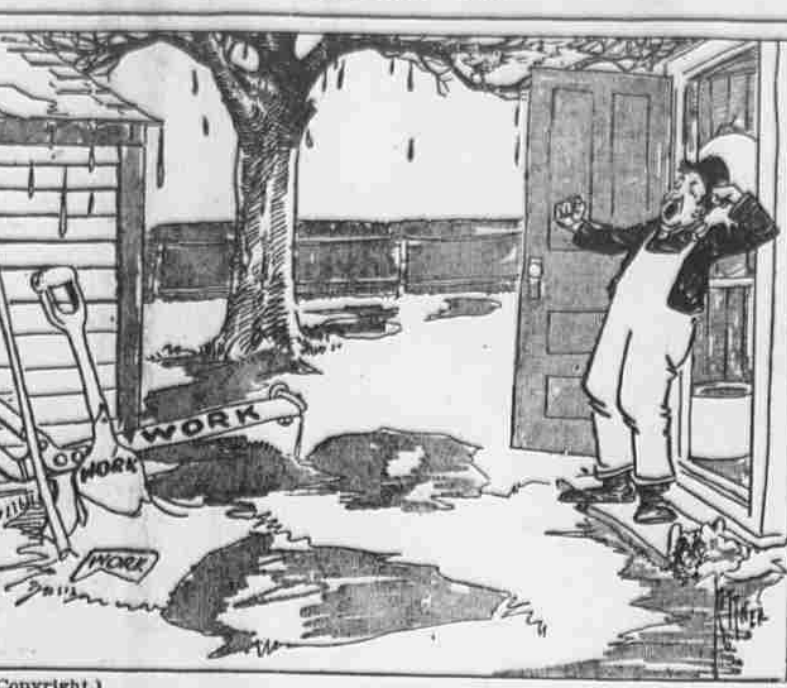

Freeman Morrison of Lisbon went to East Liverpool Saturday, drank too much and was picked up in an alley adjoining a room from which he had been thrown after his money had been spent. He had a pair of gum boots well filled with bottles of booze. He was taken to the city prison and fined $5 and costs by Mayor Schreiber. It is said that Morrison had received his soldiers' pension just a few days before his trip to the pottery town.

Many people in Ohio want good roads, and they are getting them. In 1905 only $10,000 was spent on Ohio's highways. In 1911 $500,000 was expended. In 1912 $1,386,000 was spent. This year over $6,000,000 is being spent for that purpose, and expended on 9,000 miles of main market roads in every county under the direction of state highway commissioners. Ohio is to have the finest system of improved highways in the world under the plan decided on at Berger's administration, unless the reactionaries in the legislature can stop it.

John Schaffner, an old resident of this village, was 70 years old Monday and celebrated the event quietly at his home on west Main street and received many eventual periods of his life since his birth near New Springfield three score and ten years ago. He is remarkably well preserved and works every day in the Y. & O. R. car barn at Leetonia. He has neither built a city nor founded an empire, yet he lives the simple life of a good and unassuming citizen, with no ill-will to anyone, and is in good repute among his neighbors.

The pastor of the Lutheran church announces the following for next Sunday: Preaching at the Zion church in the morning; at Berger's in the afternoon. The instruction class will meet this Friday evening at the home of Miss Ruth Smedley. Election of officers at Sunday school next Sunday. The men's bible class has issued a neat card announcing the subjects and also a short talk on the lesson each Sunday. A number of the school. It is here appended: Bible study for human betterment. We want you and others. March 15, 1914. Subject, The Lawful Use of the Sabbath. Luke 13:10-17; 14:1-6. 30 minutes study. Five minute lecture. Our Sundays, by W. E. Roller. March 22, 1914. Subject, Lessons By The Way. Luke 13:18-35—30 minutes study. Five minute lecture. Some Good Acts We Can Do Each Day, by W. D. King. March 29. Subject, Jesus in the morning; at Berger's in the afternoon. Five minute lecture. How Would Jesus Teach Today? by A. L. Taylor. Men, both young and old, are invited to join us. If you are in doubt as to whether it will benefit you, just pay us a visit next Sunday morning at 8:45 a. m., stand at the door and say, "I will." The Men's Bible Class, Rev. L. G. Gross, Teacher. C. E. Holt, Asst. Teacher.
